

Whew,,,,cell phone use onboard an aircraft....How rude is it when you're standing in line at a store for a few moments and are subjected to the conversation of another person on their cell phone. Imagine being locked into a cubicle with 100+ people for at least an hour, each one trying to outdo the other with their personal conversations. My vote...absolutely no cell phone use on board aircraft.